WEALTH DISTRIBUTION

According to a report of the Census Bureau, the wealth of this nation in 1912 amounted to $187,733,000,000. The share of each man, woman and child being estimated at $1,965, a sum six times as great as the per capita wealth reported in 1850. As showing that the country has rapidly grown richer, this is highly encouraging; but what about the distribution of this expanding wealth? The report of the Census Bureau's findings does not answer this question. Such inquiry, though of great importance, seems to be left to the Socialistic writers who may or may not be reliable. The report merely shows that New York is the richest State, that Illinois come next, that Pennsylvania stands third, that the per capita wealth of Nevada is two and a half times as great as the average for the whole country, etc., etc. An up to date report might show departure from some of these ratings the greatest new accumulations of wealth being now found in the sections most largely engaged in war production.

The subject of distribution has been much discussed by Socialists. According to George K. Holmes, 9 per cent of the families of this country own 71 per cent of the total wealth. Charles P. Sparham contends that seven-eighths of American families hold but one-eighth of the national wealth, while but 1 per cent hold more than the remaining 99 per cent. John Graham Brooks declares in "Social Unrest" that 1 per cent of Americans are rich and hold 54.8 per cent of the wealth; 10.9 per cent are moderately well off and hold 32.2 per cent; 13 per cent are poor and hold 13 per cent; and 50 per cent are "very poor" holding no wealth at all. Whether the findings of the writers quoted are much more than the mere guesses of pessimists is open to question. Doubtless they would now make some changes in their figures, for during several years our highly paid wage earners have enjoyed a large share of "war prosperity," although the same good fortune has not come to the salaried classes farther up in the social scale who in most cases have been called on to meet continually expanding prices for all that they buy while failing to increase their incomes.

But even now a far greater inequality of wealth distribution than there ought to be under desirable conditions is certain, and surely the subject is important enough to invite earnest study by our official statisticians. A government that claims to represent the masses rather than the classes ought to seek to ascertain the causes of a too unequal distribution of the country's wealth and endeavor to apply whatever sane and legitimate remedies that can be found. Even if no real remedy be available the subject of distribution ought to receive official study and the findings ought to be published in order that the public may know whether the showings of the Socialists are misleading or not.

UNCLE SAM'S STANDING ARMIES

Uncle Sam will have two standing armies after the war. One will be defense; larger, better equipped, more efficiently trained than ever before. An army of veterans from the European firing line.

The other will be an army of the thrifty, trained through a series of Liberty Loans to more careful expenditure, to greater economies, to self denial and frugality. An army of savers.

Both will be necessary to the future welfare of the country. For we must not forget that for some years to follow the cessation of hostilities America will have to economize. We must pay the cost of it all.

Prices must of necessity be higher than those imposed by the government. This will mean that prices will continue to be high. Most of the things we need in our everyday life will be expensive.

Economies will become imperative; thrift more than ever essential. America is having her training in the school of self denial right now. Even so graduation day is far in the future. For though we learn quick enough we are reluctant to apply ourselves. The lessons don't appeal.

Business and industrial conditions may be such as to alleviate in no small degree these added responsibilities. But no man can say with certainty as to that. So we are left no choice. Probably before these Liberty Loans are finished there will be an army of 50,000,000 bond buyers in America. Every one of these will have undergone a beneficial period of training in the drill of thrift.

Under no conditions can all of the benefit of this application be lost to the country. Before we have finished paying for our bonds we will have learned to keep step more or less in the march of frugality.

And between Uncle Sam's standing armies there will be little choice in respect to real value. One may be necessary to safety but the other will be altogether imperative to prosperity. Nor will the Thrifters be of least importance.

MONARCHIES IN NAME ONLY

Recent report indicated that, rather than "desert his sorely tried people," the Kaiser would even condescend to become "a hereditary President like the Kings of England, Belgium and Italy." In other words, though hitherto a bombastic representative of the medieval notion of the "divine right" of monarchs, the Kaiser is not ready to stick to his guns at all costs, like the proud old fellows of the past, but is willing to climb down meekly from his perch in order to keep a grip on his job and his big salary. Whether this report correctly interpreted his state of mind at the time or not, the announcement is chiefly interesting as calling attention to the forms of government actually existing in the three Allied countries named.

The King of England exercises his purely theoretical powers through a responsible ministry selected from the members of the political party which has a majority in the House of Commons. In Belgium every act of the King must be countersigned by a minister responsible to the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies. Italy's King can not veto a bill passed by Parliament and his Cabinet is directly responsible to the Chamber of Deputies. Germany and France are not the only free countries engaged in the war on the Huns. The Kings of the three named above are figurehead rulers who receive popular support because of the dignity which royal state is supposed to impart to government. In all true essentials England, Belgium and Italy are monarchies in name only, the people through their elected representatives exercising the real power.

HOLDING LIBERTY BONDS

Next to the imperative duty of American citizens to support the Liberty Loan is their duty to hold their Liberty Bonds. It is not full service to the country to purchase Liberty Bonds and then throw them upon the market, thus putting upon others the real burden of financing the war. Unless the necessity for disposing of them is very great every owner of a Liberty bond should hold fast to it.

Holding on to one's bonds means that one has not only lent as much money to his government—but also that he is not spending that money for goods, labor and transportation needed by the government in the prosecution of the war, and is thus leaving the resources of the country more freely at the disposal of the government as well as giving it financial backing. This is double service.

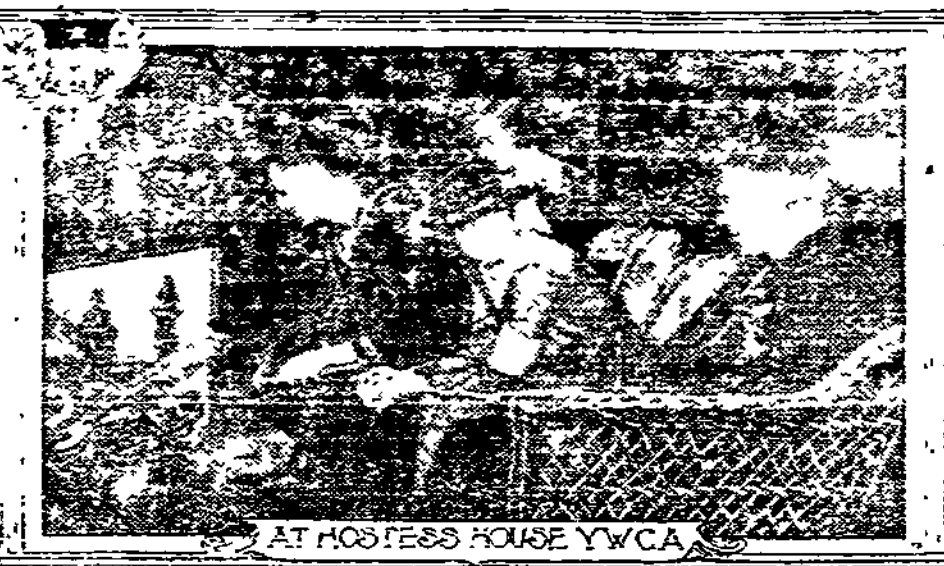

Judging the future by the past, our Government bonds issued during this war are going to rise greatly in value with peace. In 1863, 4 per cent United States bonds sold in the open market as high as $130, and in 1901 brought over $130—that is, $130 and some cents for a $100 bond. That the Liberty bonds are going to rise well above par in value something that the most conservative will admit is well within the bounds of possibility.

Every holder of a Liberty bond before he disposes of it, and especially before he trades it for stocks or other bonds, should consult a bank. Much money will be thereby saved to the owners of Liberty bonds and the finances of the American people be better conserved.

TINPLATE MILL DOWN FOR NEEDED REPAIRS

The American Sheet & Tinplate plant of Monessen has closed down for a period of two weeks, for the purpose of making necessary repairs to the mill. This will be the first shut down in four years, and the opportunity will be taken to put the mill in first-class shape.

WHAT IS A HOSTESS HOUSE?

Blue Triangle Series.

"The place where you can get anything you want from an egg to an elephant," answers one of Uncle Sam's doughboys at Camp Dix.

"Just one bit of Heaven packed full of angels," answers another boy in khaki.

"Just one phase of the Young Women's Christian Association War Work Council Activities," answers Mrs. Henry P. Davison, treasurer of the National Board Y. W. C. A.

The hostess houses are the homes that serve the entire nation. No hostess house is built except at the direct request of the commanding officer, and each house has its individuality. They have been erected by the Y. W. C. A. at the request of the government as an answer to the problem of what to do with the women relatives and friends, and the men also, who come to visit the soldiers either while in training or en route to France. The need was first brought sharply to the attention of the government in the early days of the war at Plattsburg. Then women waited in mud, the consistency of glue, under any improvised shelter they could find to see their men, or froze in an uncompromising atmosphere of 40 below. Then the government realized that women will spend their last penny and endure almost any hardship to say a last farewell to their men folk before they embark for France.

Miss Vera Shaefer, representative of the War Work Council in the northeastern field, had previously encountered the problem in her work among women on the Mexican border. Two weeks after the S. O. S. came from the commanding officer at Plattsburg, Miss Shaefer had the first hostess house erected and ministering to the needs of women visitors. Since then the work has grown to nation wide proportions, with over 90 hostess houses in or near the army and navy military camps from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with more being erected as fast as labor and lumber can be secured. New Jersey has Y. W. C. A. hostess houses at Camp Dix and Camp Merritt.

No doubt if elephants proved a necessity to the comfort of the army or its friends on this side of the Atlantic the hostess houses would have them. Our doughboy may talk exaggerated a bit, but he has learned to ask for what he wants, and generally secures it if it is in the power of the hostess to get it for him, from a room for his mother overnight to a marriage license for himself on a few hours' notice.

Sometimes Judge Too Hasty.

It might be advisable for us to sound our own depts and backgrounds and cultivate a certain perspective and foreground for the people we ruthlessly condemn as hopelessly impossible. And so put so much greater an impediment in the way of their advancement to better things. Criticism is a cruel and too often an entirely unnecessary weapon to wield against those who are coming in contact. There are very few people who are really "impossible" if only we would make the effort to find their good and worthwhile virtues.—Exchange.

Crimean War.

The Crimean war occurred in 1853-55, between Russia on one side and the allied forces of Turkey, France and Great Britain on the other. It grew out of dominating and aggressive claims by Russia. The war took its name from that it was mainly waged in a Russian peninsula on the border of the Black sea, a strip of country called Krim or Crim by the Russians and Anglicized as Crimea, pronounced Crim-e-a, with the I short as in criminal and accent on the second syllable.

Cops Stand the Strain.

A well-known scientist informs us that closing the eyes and relaxing the muscles for a space of five minutes several times a day helps one to stand the strain of war-time conditions. And here we have been blaming the cops when they were doing a wise and excellent thing, especially when they were wanted by belated citizens, who were holding a hurried session with stick-up men.—New York Times.

Fifty Dollars for Newfoundland.

Henry VII was so pleased with the discoverer of Newfoundland, the first colony added to the crown, that he presented him with a $50 note. Mr. E. Hall of the Navy league alluded to this circumstance at a meeting of the Society of Engineers at Burlington House. The first effort to colonize for the British empire, he said, was made in 1500.

To Mend Broken China.

Tie the broken parts of china together with stout string, being sure that the edges meet evenly; then completely submerge the dish in a pan of skim milk and place on back of stove to gently simmer all day. Do not remove from the milk until thoroughly cold and even then don't cut the string for 24 hours. Hot water will not cause the cups to come apart again.

Muchadoo About O.

A little book with the title of "The Vest Pocket Argument Settler" has been observed at a book store. Now who in the world ever had such an argument about a vest pocket as to try to write a book about it? Maybe the book wasn't about vest pockets, after all.

Ancient Thessalonika.

British soldiers out at Salonika have little love to spare for the place. "They say out there," remarked a Welsh warrior home on leave, "that it dropped out of God's pocket." Yet 18 centuries ago it had a Christian church so important that St. Paul devoted to it two of his immortal epistles.

Color of Copper.

Absolutely pure copper may have a light gray color like that of most other metals, since it is found that copper which has been ten times dissolved in aqua has only a pale rose color, while the yellow color of gold becomes much lighter under similar treatment.

The Impression.

Cerberus in ancient Greek story was the sleepless dog which guarded the entrance to Hades; the lower or infernal regions in which dwelt the shades of the dead. He is usually represented with three heads, and with serpents round his neck.

Friendship.

Friendship is the transfiguration of service; the creation of a new motive; redeeming life from its drudgery, and sending the pulse-beat of joy into the most trivial task.—Donald Sage Mackay.

The Day's Worst Pun.

Speaking of things spiritual, an illicit whisky still has been found underneath a church in an Alabama town.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ONLY ONE

The Record in Charleroi Is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Charleroi citizens testify to Louis Velletay of 205 Prospect avenue. She says: "I had been troubled for years with dropsical swellings in hard to get around. I also had a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back and I couldn't do my housework. Rheumatic pains darted throughout my body and I felt tired all the time. I got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought them at Piper Bros. Drug Store, and two boxes relieved me. I now take Doan's Kidney Pills when I am not feeling well and they never fail to help me."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Velletay uses. Foster-McBurr Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CAPT. SOL C. SPEER CALLED BY DEATH

Capt. Solomon C. Speers, one of the oldest residents of this section of the Monongahela valley, died at his home in Speers, Friday evening, Nov. 8, at 8:46 p. m., in the 87th year of his age. He was born near Fredericktown, this county, the son of the late Henry and Elizabeth Cooper Speers, May 12, 1852. When but a boy he moved with his parents from that locality and settled on the present site of Speers, where he has lived continually since that time. In early life Mr. Speers followed the river and for many years served as clerk and Captain on some of the best known packet boats on the Monongahela, among them being the Elisha Bennett, Chief-tain and LaFayette. He also served on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, running on packets between Pittsburgh and Louisville, as well as St. Louis in the days when the floating palaces of western waters were in the height of their glory. Shortly after the civil war he gave up the river and returned home and established the glass sand business at Speers, which he continued for years. He supplied sand for the glass factories of the Pittsburgh Plate, the Belle Veron, Fayette City and Brownsville plants for many years.

Capt. Speers never sought public office, confining his activities to business and mercantile pursuits after his retirement from the river. He was married to Eliza Ann Walker who died some thirty years ago. He is survived by two sons, Charles and Albert, and two daughters Mrs. W. C. Arthur wife of Dr. Arthur of Ambridge and Miss Jessie at home and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from his late home Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, with interment to follow in the Monongahela cemetery.

Mr. Speers was a member of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church and Rev. Burson will have charge of the funeral services.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM NOT AT PITT GAME

The Charleroi High School football team did not attend the Pitt-W. & J. football game at Forbes Field this afternoon in a body as they expected, because the necessary arrangements could not be made. The team has an invitation to attend the Penn game, but they have a game on themselves, which will make it impossible to go down next Saturday. For this reason they tried to exchange dates, but were evidently too late in trying to make the necessary arrangements.

REPLACING THE BAN WILL AFFECT CAMPAIGN

The replacing of the influenza quarantine in Washington county for the coming week will likely have a bad effect on the campaign for the United War Work activities. All public meetings will be prohibited, which will prevent the cause of the seven agencies from being presented to the people in a public way. Even at that Washington county will go over the top with its quota. Conditions will only make the committees work the harder.

WASHINGTON BURGESS PROHIBITS FIREARMS

The Burgess of Washington has issued a proclamation prohibiting the use of fire arms in all celebrations that may take place in the future. It had been reported there had been an indiscriminate use of firearms recently, and this is now under the ban. In Canonsburg, Thursday night a one young man was instantly killed by a stray bullet, and a couple of others were badly wounded in the same manner, by parties unknown.

GOVERNOR NAMES A DAY OF PRAYER

Entire Town on Auction Block. Any man whose ambition is to own a whole town will have an opportunity to do so.

Re Governor of Lord Stairbridge, the owner of the town of Stairbridge, England, will be put on the auction block to be sold to the highest bidder. The town is in a picturesque part of Derbyshire, and is a high in the midst of rolling hills. The nearest railway station is three miles distant at Somley.

Deaths of soldiers are reported in these days, when taxes are eating up profits and many of the vanquished soldiers of the nobility are losing their lives on the battlefields. This is the sad tale of an entire town which has been arranged.

COMPLAIN OF LOCK THREE FACILITIES

The United States snagboat Swan, in charge of Capt. W. H. Shannon, is stationed at Lock 3 where it is assisting in the repairs now being made to the lower gates of the outside chamber. The steamer is also assisting to relieve traffic by pulling out double headers.

It was stated yesterday that the Pittsburg Coal company complained that too much time was lost at this lock on account of the bad condition of the chambers, which have been out of repair for sometime. According to rivermen this is the largest tonnage center in the world. It was learned Friday that two years ago Federal authorities had completed arrangements to rebuild and lock and already had their plant and workmen on the scene, when on petition of the Pittsburg Coal Exchange to Col. Edgar Jadwin that the closing of the chamber would seriously interfere with traffic, the work then was stopped and only minor repairs have been made since. Since the lock chambers have been out of commission, the Federal engineers have done all in their power to relieve congestion and would have been successful but the heavy fogs have seriously interfered with the work. The repair work is in charge of Capt. George S. Nutt, considered one of the best rivermen in the Pittsburg district.

QUARANTINE IS NOT LIFTED IN MONESSEN

The quarantine in Westmoreland county will be lifted by the state on Saturday, with the exception of the towns of Jeannette, Monessen, Vandergrift and Scottsdale. While conditions in Monessen are improving, the state health department seems it advisable to continue the ban for some time yet.

ASK HUNTERS TO HELP PREVENT FIRES

State officials, men connected with big corporations and private owners of forest land, conservationists and lovers of wild life have been making a special effort this year to prevent recurrences of the fall forest fires, and calls will be made upon sportsmen and others who go into the woods to not only prevent fires, but to go out of their way to stop them. The loss in timber in Pennsylvania last spring alone was more than a million dollars, and thousands of acres, including some young timber planted at considerable expense, were ruined.

NO ELECTION WAS HELD ON TUESDAY

There was one district in Allegheny county in which no election was held on Tuesday, and not one of the voters thus disfranchised was concerned enough to make a complaint. This fact becomes known on Thursday when Joseph Broggi, judge of election in the Third precinct of Forward township went to the prothonotary's office in Pittsburgh with unused ballots and other papers furnished by the county commissioners. Broggi informed the clerks that no election was held. He said he had been busy on election day driving around some army officers making a survey of conditions at the coal mines. Other members of the board did not go to the trouble to organize, as most of them were busy in the mines.

The Third precinct of Forward township is situated along the Monongahela river, between Axelson and Sandwells on the opposite side of the river from Monongahela.

Soldiers Need Sugar

To the fighting man sugar is not a luxury but a necessity, it is a food which is quickly converted into heat and energy. Save them sugar. Try our VICTORY BREAD. It contains 20 per cent substitutes according to Government rules.

A PLAIN TRUTH

A man may patronize the mail order houses for years, may send them in that time hundreds of dollars, and at the same time they would not accommodate him for a two-cent stamp. This is the plain, unvarnished truth. If you think otherwise try it for yourself and see. These out-of-town houses do not know you -- do not care to know you -- are not interested in you in any way -- only in the money you send them. Spend your money with your own townsmen who know you for what you really are, who appreciate your worth, your business, your assistance in building up home interests.
